How do I get my mind focused on school and off other stuff?

I personally would turn to someone who I trust and someone who would help me thru everything. I would say that you should set yourself up for distractions. I distract myself with coloring, drawing , and if you grab a piece of paper and you write you issues on it and rip it helped and maybe it would help you. You are very strong person for coming to school and doing good for yourself. Keep going and don't give up.

Why should I Staying in school?

You should stay in school even if you don't want to. In the future you want to have a good career and you want to look back and be like "Wow I did so good even though I had some issues or obstacles in my way but I kept going because I wont give up on myself."
